1. The most fundamental aspect of Job's restoration was the renewal of his _____ with God.

a. Even while Job's outward _____ were still a reality, by God's grace, he came to experience a humble submission and renewed faith in the Lord.

b. The Lord honors Job by identifying him as His _____.

"To _____ the Lord, is as much our privilege as our duty; and when the Lord calls us to His service, He rather puts a favor upon us, than a burden. The Lord is the highest master, and they are highly honored who are His servants." - Joseph Caryl

2. The Lord enabled Job's relationships with his friends and family to be _____.

a. Eliphaz, Bildad, and Zophar were godly men who had sinned against the Lord; and He would not allow them to _____ in their sin.

b. As He often does, God ordains that Job would be a major _____ in his friends restoration to the Lord.

c. Job graciously accepted the kindness of family and friends who had previously _____ him.

3. The Lord graciously restored Job's _____.

"His troubles began in Satan's malice, which God restrained; his restoration began in God's _____, which Satan could not oppose. Job's sorest complaint, on which he laid the greatest emphasis, was that God appeared against him. But now God plainly appeared for him." - Matthew Henry a. When the Lord sovereignly brings both material and family blessing to Job, we see that the blessings of God upon His people are contingent upon the _____ of God not the will of man.

b. Job is an example to us of living with an enduring _____ and hope in the Lord through all circumstances of life.

"Job's days were full of good done, as well as of good received; he had not a long being only, but a long _____ in the world, living to good, yea, his best in duty both to God and man." - Joseph Caryl

c. Job's life is a _____ that helps us see the big picture of the gospel hope we have in Jesus Christ.
