

Podcast: Confessing The Faith

Episode 29: The Association of Reformed Baptist Churches of America

Participants: Joe Anady; Steve Martin

Published: 08/09/2017

Q1: Steve, I think it would be good to begin by asking you to tell us a bit about yourself (your background and testimony) and your position in ARBCA?

Q2: Would you describe the history of ARBCA for us?

Q3: Why do you believe in associationalism, as opposed to radical independency on the one hand, or presbyterianism on the other (a biblical argument)?

Q4: What are benefits that come to the local church through the association?

Q5: What is the work of the association?

Q6: What are the requirements for joining the association?

All members, or just officers?

Why is subscription to a confession required? Why not just belief in the Bible?

Q7: What is the relationship between the local associations of RB churches that exist across the country and ARBCA? And why might a church in a local association consider joining the national association?

Q8: Would you describe the process for joining the association?
